On Wednesday December 8th 2004 _____'s GRADS class was scheduled to attend a field trip to Family Works. _____ waited until only a couple days before this to hand out permission slips, which stated we would be taking metro to our destination. The bus was already going toward the stop so everyone had to run for it. _____ then stopped and told everyone she would see them later. This is an extremely irresponsible move on her part as a teacher. Not only did she not find out what time we should be at the stop in doing so making girls who are pregnant and carrying children run, she didn't make sure everyone got to where we were going. Had we not met our destination what would have happened? Only one of the students knew where to get off. What if she didn't? The job of a teacher is supervising field trips, which _____ failed to do. She didn't even show up at Family Works until about 30-45 minutes before the field trip was scheduled to end. As stated this is an extremely irresponsible move on her side as a teacher and all of the students below would like to see something done about that.
