

Rents up, vacancies down

Renters throughout King and most other central Puget Sound counties are finding fewer apartments to choose from than at any time in years. And what apartments they do find are more expensive.

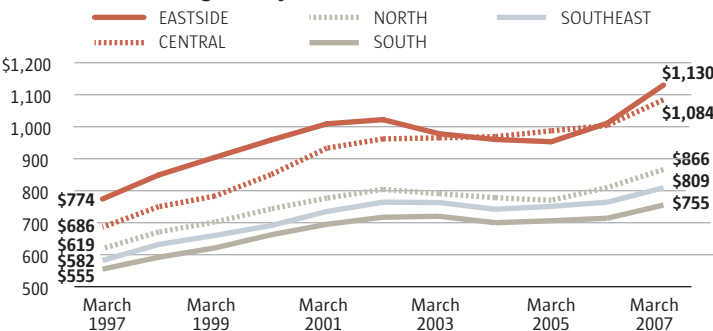

Rent trend by county

Vacancy-rate trend by county

Rent trend for 5 King County sub-areas

Vacancy-rate trend for 5 King County sub-areas

